

THINKING
BOX

A world that works for everyone

Stuart Brown: Play

- How important is play?
 - Is it vital for adults as well as children?
 - ‘Play has a biological place just like sleep and dreams do’
- ‘If you want to belong you need social play’ – agree?

You and play

- What is your clearest playful memory?
 - What was it like? What do you remember?
- Do you ever do things for no reason?
- What do you do to play now? How might you play more?

Social

- How can you make your meetings better?
- How could more play be created in society?

Types

Body play

Object play

Rough and tumble play

Spectator play (sport)

Imaginative play

Telling stories

Board games

Improvisation